Call for abstracts

ECDS 2023 will allow scientists from different disciplines to meet, exchange ideas, and create new networks around climate change, water scarcity, and forest preservation. We look forward to participating in these discussions about innovation and research for sustainability and raising awareness.

ECDS 2023 will also provide a friendly platform for young scientists to share their first-hand findings in their research interests. A forum for face-to-face discussion is organized with entrepreneurs from the Normandie region to innovate in a sustainable spirit.

Authors are invited to submit 2 pages abstract for oral or poster presentation. The template is downloadable on the conference link.

Main topics
